2025 Annual Giving Report

In 2019, a group of friends came together to pay it forward to nurture others, and the Ogden Circle of Giving (OCOG) was established. In order to engage their children in philanthropy as well, the group established the Ogden Youth Circle of Giving for youth up through age 24. Based in the Ogden, Utah region, the Ogden Circle of Giving is a forum for women to pool funding and grants to organizations that are making an impact in their community.

2025 Spring Grant Cycle

The Ogden Circle of Giving's vision is an ever-expanding circle that supports others to grow in ways that may not have otherwise been possible. We work to create opportunities for women from all walks of life to share ideas and open-minded discussions while significantly impacting the community through annual grants.

Spring 2025 Grantmaking Summary

- 24 grant applications were received from Weber County Non-Profits
- The steering committee advanced six finalist applications for review by the OCOG
- This year, community vibrancy was our focus for the grantmakers

Results: Using the numerical values assigned to the rubric grading criteria, the results revealed:

- $10,000 distributed - Midtown Community Health Center

Midtown Community Health Center was sent the funds in early May 2025.

2025 Fall Grant Cycle

The second annual grantmaking cycle of the Dr. Ezekiel R. and Edna Wattis Dumke Foundation Charitable Fund was administered in 2025 by the Ogden Circle of Giving (OCOG) in partnership with the Community Foundation of Utah. Weber County-focused 501(c)(3) nonprofit organizations that promote positive change through creativity, innovation, education, or enhanced well-being were eligible for funding.

Fall 2025 Grantmaking Summary

- 11 grant applications were received from Weber County nonprofits
- The steering committee advanced eight finalist applications for review by the OCOG based on eligibility and mission focus
- This year's focus was conservation and environmental projects in the Greater Ogden area

Results: Using the numerical values assigned to the rubric grading criteria, the results revealed:

- $27,500 distributed - Eden Streets
- $46,000 distributed - Ogden Nature Center

Both organizations were sent the funds in December 2025.
